Patagonia life

In the midst of incredible glacier crowned mountain ranges and spectacular river valleys, we bring people together from all over the world who share a common ecological consciousness, and a love for rivers and the great outdoors

Expediciones Chile has a strong commitment to protecting the free-flowing Futaleufú River and the local culture that depends on it to live.

When you join us you will make friends and memories that will last you a lifetime. We emphasize mingling with the local people and experiencing the colorful southern Andes culture will be one of the highlights of a journey with Expediciones Chile

Your visit to Futaleufú will help demonstrate that eco-tourism is a viable alternative to hydroelectric development.
