barefoot eco camp

Nestled at the confluence of the Rio Futaleufu and the Rio Azul, under the watch of volcanic spires is our barefoot camp, ClubFuta at Campo Tres Monjas. Designed with a dedication to environmental consciousness and comfort, it is a nature and river lover's paradise.

Downstream from the legendary rapids of the upper Futaleufú and upstream of more perfect play spots than can be found anywhere else on the planet, paddling has never been so enjoyable. The Campo itself is accessible only by water or footpath. Upon arriving at this secluded haven, you discover sunny, white sand beaches with hammocks for relaxing, a skinny-dip river pool, and plenty of hot water for outdoor showers built from rocks and bamboo. Covered drying racks for your river gear are just a few steps away from a wood fired sauna. Our masseuse is available to soothe your tired muscles. The drinking water is as pure and fresh as it gets, direct from an Andean mountain spring. Meals are enjoyed family-style in the native wood and bamboo dining lodge. Our chef bakes bread and delectable desserts daily. Dinners of salmon, roasted chicken, and Chilean barbecues are accompanied by organic vegetables harvested from our own greenhouse. Solar panels provide lights for dinner and reading. The Southern Cross lights the path back to your tent site.

Whatever your choice of adventure, Campo Tres Monjas is the ideal base. We've attended to the details important to fellow outdoor enthusiasts, allowing you to stay in a place of ethereal beauty, right in the heart of a network of hiking, horseback, and mountain biking trails, whitewater and choice fishing spots.

An unique opportunity to revel in comfort in natural surroundings, and spend your days in "The Greatest Playground on Earth" T.M. For family trips a baby sitter is available.

"This is the place! Not only is it the most spectacular spot in this valley, it is the most spectacular spot I have ever seen."
Cathy Philpot, Salt Lake City UT.

"You have redefined camping, the camp should be called ClubFuta!"
Woody Callaway, Hendersonville NC.
